Ky Tightens Controls In Saigon, Hue

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky pushed his radical Buddhists farther into a corner today by sending his paratroopers into Hue and slapping a 9 p.m. nightly curfew on Saigon.

The paratroopers opened fire on dissident Vietnamese soldiers who tried to stage a march with Buddhist banners in the northern city. The marchers fled after a heavy burst of fire and some blood on the street indicated casualties.

Apparently confident of crushing the Buddhist rebellion, the SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky moved firmly ahead against its opponents.

A story of U.S. Marine battlefield valor unfolded on a hillside 325 miles northeast of Saigon where 30 U.S. marines held off 300 Viet Cong for five hours during the night.

When the Leathernecks ran out of ammunition, they fought on with bayonets and finally rocks until Marine helicopters, planes and reinforcements helped drive the Communists off. A U.S. spokesman said all but two of the Marines were killed or wounded, but the platoon killed 32 of the attackers.

U.S. jets continued heavy attacks on North Viet Nam, flying 265 missions during which they dodged nine Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles. Two planes were lost to conventional groundfire, bringing the number of American planes shot down over the Communist north to

265. One of the pilots was rescued by helicopter.

Ky's 500 paratroopers rolled into Hue at dawn to a chorus of jeering, drum-beating Buddhists, but they quickly hauled Buddhist altars of main streets and took positions at the radio station and one of the bridges across the Perfume River.

The soldiers fired a few teargas canisters and shots into the air. But with the help of 600 combat policemen sent in by Ky last week, they carried off the operation without any concerted resistance from the armed Buddhist youths and dissident troops who have kept the city of 160,000 in open rebellion for weeks.

Thousands of homemade al-

the Buddhist agitation with "large-scale subversion." The curfew was imposed "to protect the people's lives and property and maintain security," he said.

Riot police and ranger battalions dispersed half a dozen Buddhist demonstrations in Saigon as disorders continued in the capital for the fourth consecutive day.

Obviously rattled by the government's firmness, leaders of the Buddhist Institute seemed hard-pressed for new moves against the government. Two monks, who took command of the Buddhist Institute after its head left Saigon, vowed to evacuate the pagodas and take the movement underground.

"Monks will go to jail and pagodas will be empty," Thich Phap Tri told newsmen. "Others will direct the struggle from private homes." He said he and his colleague, Thich Thien Hoa, would continue harassment tactics "until the government falls."

The institute also charged that an 18-year-old nun, Hue Tri, had died of wounds inflicted by government troops in Saigon.

U. S. Hoping To Persuade French Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States apparently hopes to persuade President Charles de Gaulle that France has a stake in allowing NATO bases to remain on her soil, even if most are reduced to a standby basis.

At the same time, Washington officials are anxious that the U.S. Air Force not be barred from flying French skies. Approval now is granted by France on a month-to-month basis.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara hinted this direction in U.S. thinking after announcing Wednesday that he has ordered the remaining 122 U.S. transport and reconnaissance planes and the bulk of American war stocks, some 575,000 tons, shifted out of France.

This was the first major action to comply with De Gaulle's demand that North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces leave France, although NATO leaders already have agreed to move the alliance's military headquarters from Paris to Belgium.

While doing this, McNamara obviously sought to avoid any appearance of a rupture.

The defense secretary noted that De Gaulle has stated "unequivocally," as McNamara put it, that France intends to remain a member of the alliance.

"We welcome that statement," McNamara said. "We will do everything to cooperate with him to carry it out."

Without being specific, McNamara said there are facilities in NATO that are beneficial to France.

De Gaulle's Plan Brings U.S. Worry

Seeks Basis For French-Soviet OK On German Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's plan to seek a basis for French-Soviet understanding on eventual unification of Germany when he visits Moscow next week worries American policy makers.

U.S. officials are not sure what terms for German unification De Gaulle may suggest to the Soviets. But they are concerned that whatever he has in mind may in some way be directed toward reducing U.S. power and influence in Europe.

Reports have circulated among diplomats for several weeks that the long deadlocked division of Germany would be one of De Gaulle's principal topics in his Moscow talks. The reports got official confirmation Wednesday when French Ambassador Charles Lucet spoke at a National Press Club luncheon here. He said De Gaulle would bring up the German issue.

"He will look into the possibility of solving the German problem," Lucet said, "because without that no durable peace can be achieved."

In his speech, Lucet also said that "German reunification is possible only within a Europe that itself would cease to be divided."

Diplomatic authorities took this to mean that De Gaulle is thinking of the possibility of reunifying West Germany and

This may be the tack along which the United States is planning to negotiate with the French on the future of some 30 major bases and installations, including a 500-mile fuel pipeline leading into West Germany.

Court Move Stirs Varied Reactions

respect this new ruling, as they have all the others on interrogation and search and seizure of evidence. I believe our department always has been one of the leaders in assuring that suspects are advised of their rights, and then respecting those rights.

"I feel this country must be careful, for if this trend continues, criminals may take over. Some people already feel that courts bend over backward to protect the rights of the defendants, while offering nothing to assist the prosecution."

THE COURT ruled that a suspect must have been told clearly that he may remain silent, that anything he says may be held against him and that he has a right to have a lawyer present during an interrogation.

If the suspect desires a lawyer, but cannot afford one, he cannot be questioned unless a court-appointed lawyer is present.

The court also said that if a suspect confesses after receiving these warnings and without counsel, the burden is on the prosecution to prove a "knowing waiver" of rights and any prolonged interrogation will be taken to show a lack of waiver.

If a suspect makes a knowing waiver but later asks to see a lawyer, all questioning must cease until he does, the court held. If the suspect is without counsel and starts to talk, but then indicates in any manner that he wants to remain silent, the police must stop questioning him, the court said.

Chief Justice Earl Warren commented that the rulings "do not outlaw confessions," but four dissenting justices disagreed.

Justice John M. Harlan denounced the decision as "dangerous experimentation" at a time of a "high crime rate that is a matter of growing concern." He said it is a "new doctrine" without precedent, reflecting a one-sided balance in favor of the accused.

POLICE CHIEF John Hepner at Wellsville commented: "This is a terrific blow to law enforcement. It's a great setback and I don't understand it. I feel the courts should be backing the law enforcement agencies, not making their task more difficult."

"The action has set back progress 20 to 25 years in this field. I have not made any decisions on the methods of conducting interrogation. I will have to wait and see what the local courts will do."

"The future of the country is at stake," he continued, pointing to the problems that could be created for future generations if suspected criminals do not have to answer questions. "It gives you something to think about," Hepner added.

COLUMBIANA County Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan at Lisbon had no criticism of the ruling.

He said the policy of his office is to advise a suspect of his constitutional rights and ask for a statement only after he has talked with counsel or signed a waiver of rights to counsel.

The voluntary statement form used by the sheriff's office also contains a paragraph that the statement is made of the person's "own free will without promise of hope or reward, without fear of threat of physical harm, without coercion, favor or offer of favor, without leniency or offer of leniency, by any person or persons whomsoever."

"This latest decision doesn't seem much different than other supreme court ruling in this field and will not change our policies at all," the sheriff said.

He conceded a suspect's statement is good to have, but said the investigation should not stop there, foolproof though the confession seems to be. The Supreme Court ruling should result in more thorough investigations by law enforcement agencies, he declared.

NO OPPOSITION to the ruling was voiced by Hancock County Sheriff Joseph Rodak, who said his officers have been following similar advisory procedures.

"We always notify our prisoners here of their rights and their right to an attorney. We ask them to sign a paper that they are making their own voluntary statement. I think the procedure also has been the same in the past."

"We never force anyone to make statements. In some cases, the decision might make the work rougher, though, where you might have someone willing to make a statement after their own international alignments, committing a serious crime. U.S. spokesmen always argue that the Germans and then have a jailhouse lawyer advise them not to make a statement. I'm not against the such a situation to line up with a statement. I'm not against the West."

14th Amendment Centennial

The 14th Amendment to the constitution was submitted to the states for ratification 100 years ago, on June 16, 1866.

Approval of the Amendment was an example of congressional hindsight. The Civil Rights Act of April 9, 1866, had been passed over the veto of President Andrew Johnson, who contended the law was unconstitutional. To meet this objection, Congress undertook to amend the Constitution.

The heart of the Amendment is the second sentence of Section I: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

LEGISLATION based on the 14th Amendment came soon after its ratification by the states. An enforcement act was passed on May 31, 1870; another on Feb. 28, 1871; and still another, the so-called Ku Klux Act, on April 20, 1871. Finally, after five years of bitter debate in Congress, a more stringent Civil Rights Act was adopted on March 1, 1875.

All of this was to no avail. In a landmark decision handed down in 1883, the Supreme Court declared the 1875 civil rights law unconstitutional. "Individual invasion of individual rights is not the subject matter" of the 14th amendment, the court ruled. The amendment thus became a dead letter as far as protection of Negro rights was concerned.

We May As Well Face It

Each year about this time, the nation has an attack of the fantods over auto production.

The auto industry, it is told, is turning out fewer cars than last year, or it is turning out more cars than last year—and in either case the fantods are set off.

If the industry is turning out more cars, there is national concern because the pipelines are full to overflowing and the surplus still will be hanging around months after the new model year begins.

If it is turning out fewer cars, there is national concern because the computer intelligence of the great auto industry has come up with the prognostication that the market has absorbed all the new cars needed to glut it for another year and there is no need to produce any more. This is incomprehensible to the no-point-of-satety crowd.

Fortunately, there are one or two verities about the auto industry to stabilize the guess-work it inspires.

Ky To Success?

WASHINGTON

To an American, the wheels within wheels in South Viet Nam — power struggles, inner conflicts, Buddhist uprisings, endless government changes — are an exasperating, confusing sight.

Now perhaps the spinning wheels will slow down. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, a 35-year-old air force general, seems to have overcome the extremist Buddhist leadership which sought to get rid of him.

How did he manage this when others failed? For one thing, he used force against the opposition. But that isn't enough explanation. The real story behind Ky's tactics and success hasn't been told yet.

Some of it can be guessed at by way of contrast in the person of President Ngo Dinh Diem, who was toppled and killed in 1963 after using extremely violent force against the Buddhists.

He was inflexible, without alternatives, a dictator without the necessary political instincts to survive. He gave no indication he intended to yield any power or share it.

He underestimated the intensity of his opposition and wasn't shrewd enough to split it by showing some willingness to compromise. By his stubbornness he solidified the opposition.

KY WAS sharper. When the Buddhists got on his back, complaining that his military government of 10 generals should be replaced by a more representative one of civilians, he agreed, although not saying exactly when.

His agreement, and the steps he took to provide for a constitution, an election, and an assembly, certainly were calculated to take steam out of the opposition and divide it.

His concession could be expected to, and obviously did, satisfy his moderate critics and

Purely Personal

I will give long odds that nine out of ten of my fellow citizens would turn down the principles of the U.S. Constitution if not tipped off and 99 out of 100 the precepts of Christianity, likewise, though they give loud lip service to both under formal auspices.

I am showing the current issue of Look Magazine to a conservative-minded friend of mine planning to spend his retirement years in California. The whole issue is about a way of life in California that will shock the fillings out of the teeth of immigrants to that promising land.

Believe it or not, some police authorities say their work will be improved by U.S. Supreme Court rulings making it tougher to wring confessions out of suspects. Confessions can be a short cut to "solving" crimes that otherwise would have to be solved by collecting evidence.

I shall not live long enough to develop composure at the sight of mature females in scanties, rompers etc. in public places. By instinct, I lower my eyes and murmur an embarrassed, "Pardon me, I didn't know you were in here . . . sir."

I think the supposition that oldsters will invade hospitals in droves after July 1 insults two groups of citizens — oldsters and doctors. The oldsters have not been holding back their symptoms until medicare became effective, and the doctors have not been taking chances either.

Whenever the U.S. Supreme Court makes another decision affecting individual rights, I think of its application to me, not to some fellow I do not like. It helps me to understand some decisions that have infuriated some of my acquaintances.

It has crossed my mind that three of those super-king-size mobile homes put together in a U, with the corners filled in with breezeways and the center turned into a patio would make a scrumptious layout.

Jittery stories about Lyndon Johnson's slump in the popularity polls need to be taken with salt. A man's popularity in politics is relative to the popularity of another politician. The question is: Who is going to be popular enough in 1968 to edge out LBJ?

Reminder for coping with public questions: There is the way you think things are, the way the other fellow thinks they are and the way things really are.

Notes Of Encouragement

Red Trade Feud Grips Labor

By Victor Riesel

Basically, Walter Reuther, the red-haired challenger, and husky George Meany, the title holder, are doing battle over one real issue: Can you do business with the Communist world?

Reuther and his second, younger brother Victor, say yes. Meany, the unshakable leader of 13.7 million AFL-CIO workers, says no, absolutely.

This is not a fight for power inside the mammoth labor federation, largest and most powerful in the world.

This is a duel to influence President Johnson, Secretary of State Rusk and — just as vital — the leadership of an international labor coalition with more than 65 million members in scores of free nations across the globe.

Since labor leaders abroad frequently become prime ministers, and their movements today have power in many governments, the Meany-Reuther controversy truly can remake history.

THE HEADQUARTERS of that global labor coalition is in Brussels — and on the morning of June 27 its high command meets there. Both Meany and Reuther are on that executive body of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU).

If Meany can convince the board that the powerful American labor movement opposes doing business with the Communists, on any front, be it cultural or labor or commercial or industrial or political — the ICFTU may stand fast against the turtle this summer.

If Reuther can show that there is a sharp difference of opinion inside American labor, the global federation leaders may accept the hand outstretched from the East.

If they do, this could influence American foreign policy. The stakes are gargantuan.

Otherwise, the brothers Reuther would not have moved openly against Meany. Nor would Meany, who likes to keep his labor family fights behind closed doors, have decided to take on the Detroiters in what will become a news sensation.

FACT IS THAT the heads of several states and their foreign offices already are involved.

There is President Johnson, for example.

When the American labor delegation walked out of the International Labor Organization (ILO — an old League of Nations' uninspired hangover now in the U.N.) word was flashed to the President. The AFL-CIO delegation bolted the ILO because its members had chosen a Polish delegate as president of its 50th session in Geneva.

As this is written, the extremist effort seems crushed. But how Ky decided on his tactics and his timing will be a fascinating story, if it ever comes out.

That he now feels self-confident was clear enough Wednesday when his military government said it would stay in power until 1967, permitting only a step-by-step march to civilian government.

Grin And Bear It

" . . . I don't care where Samson's strength was!"

The New Look

By David Lawrence

Court Changes Crime Picture

An unwitnessed crime hereafter may never be punished, particularly if the suspect knows enough to keep his mouth shut. Police officers have just been told by the Supreme Court of the United States that, immediately after they take a suspect into custody and prior to any questioning, they must warn him that anything he says may be used against him. They must specifically advise him of his right not to answer any question and of his right to have counsel beside him during any interrogation to which he may consent.

David Lawrence

If the suspect indicates "in any manner and at any stage of the process" that he wants to consult with a lawyer before speaking or that he does not wish to be interrogated, there can be no questioning. Unless the prosecution demonstrates that it has used these "procedural safeguards" in behalf of the defendant, even voluntary confessions are not admissible as evidence in a court.

When the Supreme Court, by a 5 to 4 decision, said this week that these "safeguards" are required by the Constitution, a sweeping change was made in the methods of handling persons accused of crime in America. Law enforcement agencies now are confronted with new obstacles to the protection of men, women and children and to the prevention and punishment of crime.

THE CONSTITUTION does say that no individual "shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself" and that an accused person has the right "to have the assistance of counsel for his defense."

Until recent years this has been construed to refer to trial procedures, and never before have these rights been extended so broadly to include questioning at the police station. Police officers in some cases have undoubtedly intimidated persons suspected of a crime, and in other instances have managed in a tactful way to elicit what are called "voluntary" confessions.

Now if a suspect makes any statement which is later used in court, the police have to prove that before the interrogation he was fully advised of his rights and had available the services of an attorney — who must be appointed for him if he is unable to retain one on his own. The suspect can waive such rights only if it is done "voluntarily, knowingly and intelligently."

Chief Justice Warren — joined by Justices Black, Douglas, Fortas and Brennan — says all this is in accord with the basic requirements of the Constitution. Four of the nine members of the court — Justices Clark, White, Harlan and Stewart — dissented and take the view that the court has gone too far.

Certainly more police officers now will be required in order to detect crimes. Since a policeman or even a witness seldom is present when a crime is committed, it becomes difficult, if not impossible, to produce indisputable proof when those suspected of complicity in the crime cannot be questioned without their consent.

SOME OF THE JUSTICES in the minority think that it is enough to require that a confession be voluntary and that it wasn't necessary presence of counsel at all times or the fact that the suspect can remain silent if he wishes. Justice White, in his dissenting opinion, declares:

"The most basic function of any government is to provide for the security of the individual and of his property . . . The rule announced today will measurably weaken the ability of the criminal law to perform in these tasks."

Justice Harlan, in his dissent, says that the court now has extended the Fifth Amendment privilege to the police station, and he adds:

"Nothing in the letter or the spirit of the Constitution or in the precedents squares with the heavy handed and one-sided action that is so precipitously taken by the court in the name of fulfilling its constitutional responsibilities."

Many states and bar associations must have been struggling to find a system that would improve law enforcement, particularly with reference to the handling of suspects in police stations.

Chief Justice Warren says that the decision this week does not interfere with further efforts in that direction but many lawyers will wonder just how any rules can be drawn up that will induce suspects to tell the police anything if even mere conversation with a person in custody cannot be used in court against him and now is regarded as a form of duress.

U.S. Combat Dead Shows Jump In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American combat dead climbed to the second highest of the year last week, reflecting in part the cost of the victory over a North Vietnamese regiment in the central highlands.

Crucible Steel Process Guards Cars From Salt

PITTSBURGH — A Crucible Steel Co. process that is a boon to motorists because it helps stainless steel auto trim and wheel covers keep their "like-new beauty" has been awarded a U.S. patent, it was announced today.

Salts used to melt snow and ice on the streets and highways are extremely corrosive. The "passivation" process developed by Crucible research makes stainless steel much less susceptible to pitting from these salts, the company said. The process consists of bathing the bright metal in a special warm chemical bath while electricity is passed through it.

During the five years while its application for a patent was being processed, Crucible produced millions of pounds of the passivated stainless.

Midland Chamber Plans Borough Cleanup Drive

A multiple phase campaign to improve the appearance and economic development of Midland has been launched by the Chamber of Commerce.

Among the initial steps outlined at a meeting of the Chamber Tuesday night at the McGeehan Agency was an all-out drive to clean up some of the eyesores in the community.

Lester C. Smith, president, reported that a number of merchants have set the pace for improvements by renovating the fronts of their buildings and remodeling the interior.

These renovations, according to Smith, have brought a lot of new customers into Midland to shop. He said that a number of the merchants have reported seeing people in the stores they have never seen before.

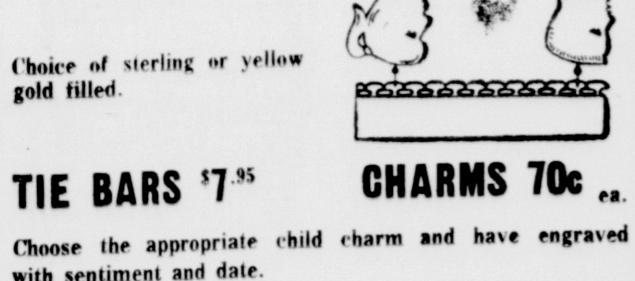

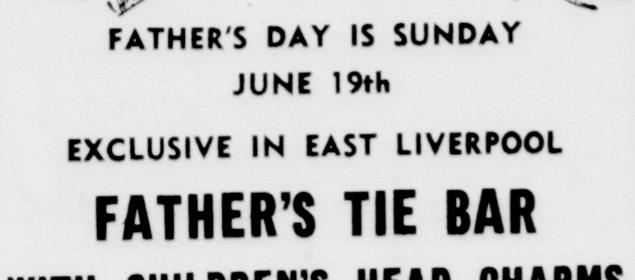

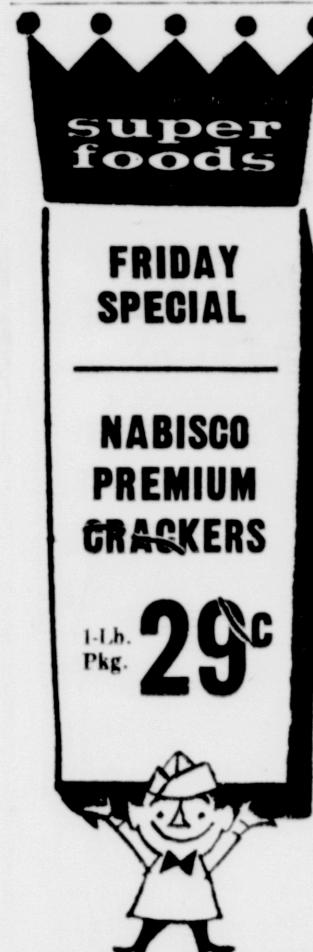

"Evidently, these new customers have been attracted by the improvements of these establishments. When people see a community's merchants spending money to provide a better looking place to shop with better service, they show more interest in shopping in those stores," Smith said.

However, Smith reported, in spite of the work done by several to improve the appearance of the community, there are still some blights remaining. Along Midland Ave. there are a number of buildings that are run down and unsightly.

There are also some lots cluttered with rusted cars and trucks and other trash, Smith pointed out.

Off the main street, there are some buildings that have been destroyed by fire, but have not been torn down. There are also some structures that don't look ugly on the outside, but have abominable conditions inside that could be hazardous to the health of those living near and are fire traps, he added.

One building in particular has been reported as a health hazard.

Miles Named Custodians At Chester Hall

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Miles, formerly of East Liverpool, began their duties Wednesday night as custodians at Chester City Hall.

Miles, a retired employee of the Homer Laughlin China Co., and his wife moved into the apartment at City Hall yesterday. They had lived on Monaca St. here.

The job pays $100 a month plus utilities and the apartment. In addition to custodial work at the building, the 24-hour-a-day job includes receiving Chester fire alarms, police calls when police are not at City Hall, and some alarms for the Lawrenceville volunteer department.

Miles, foreman of the paint shop, retired in February after 40 years' employment at the Newell pottery.

The Miles replace Mrs. Sylvia Bishop, who submitted her resignation May 17, citing "health considerations". She is the wife of Lester Bishop, street commissioner.

The Chamber approved the purchase of additional Christmas decoration lighting that will provide added sparkle to the Midland Christmas setting this year.

Five new bells at a cost of $500 will be added to the regular decorations. The bells are five feet wide and long, and will have six to eight different colored twinkling lights on each side. Also on each side will be three bells that will jingle in the wind.

Smith said the stars will be placed in the center of each block on Midland Ave. from 4th St. to 9th St. They were purchased without a need to increase last year's budget, since the Chamber bought a number of lights that do not need to be replaced.

The chamber plans to add to the decorations each year. Plans were also continued to prepare an industrial brochure to attract new firms into the area.

The Chamber will try to act as an intermediary for the industrial development project and will work with all who are interested in bringing industry here.

Smith announced that a special meeting will be called soon to list a set of by-laws and rules governing the attempts to attract various industries.

A final project to make the borough a more attractive place to shop will be the development of a business directory.

Since the turnover to new Pennsylvania Bell Telephone facilities that brought the change of numbers, a lot of people have found it difficult to find the numbers of businesses when trying to call, Smith said.

The new business directory will include all of the names, addresses and numbers of the Midland area merchants. This way, the people will be able to find the numbers they need with less confusion, Smith concluded.

The next regular meeting will be a dinner session July 13 at 7 p.m. at the Willows Motel.

'Soil Test Month' Assisted By Banks And Supply Firms

LISBON — Several banks and farm supply companies have contributed money to help Columbiana County's soil - testing campaign.

Miss Luanne Miller Weds In Ceremonies At Church

A bouffant butterfly veil and full-length gown of sata peau was worn by Miss Luanne Miller when she became the bride of Floyd E. McCartney Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Miller of 717 Bank St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McCartney of Salem.

The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar background of arrangements of white daisies and carnations, accented with baby breath, along with ferns and candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman, church organist, played a half-hour recital of organ music. Thomas A. Schneidemiller sang "Because," "How Do I Love Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The BRIDE was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice of her gown was fashioned with a scoop neckline, enhanced with seed pearl embroidery, and long pointed sleeves.

The mother of the bride chose a dress of mint green crepe, styled with a lace bodice, and a white floral hat trimmed with a veil. The bridegroom's mother wore a poudre blue crepe dress and matching lace coat along with a white hat. Mrs. W. H. Jones, grandmother of the bride, appeared in a gray and white ensemble. Corsages of white rosebuds and white accessories complemented their attire.

Her shoulder-length veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a cluster of cabbage roses highlighted with sequins. She wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bride.

She carried a white Bible, the gift of an aunt, Mrs. Earl Miller, topped with a crescent-shaped arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and English ivy tied with satin streamers.

In observing the familiar traditions, the bride wore the hoop underskirt, borrowed from Mrs. Stephen Miller, and carried an old handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Karl Oyster.

Miss Dottie Hoodski, maid of honor, was attired in orchid and Mrs. Herman C. Miller, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Roy Dray, bridesmaids, appeared in pink.

Their sheath dresses of sata peau were designed with floor-length overskirts which featured Watteau trains topped with self bows. The white lace Empire-style bodices were fashioned with scoop necklines and cap sleeves.

Matching cabbage roses and theater veils formed their headpieces. They wore single strands of pearls, the gifts of the bride, and carried cascade arrangements of pink roses, blue bachelor buttons and English ivy tied with satin streamers.

The newlyweds will reside in a newly-furnished apartment at 992 E. 4th St., Salem.

The bridegroom's parents entertained for the rehearsal dinner party at Heck's Restaurant in Columbiana.

Owen Made Chairman For Park Commission

Robert Owen was named chairman of the East Liverpool Park Commission during the annual reorganization meeting Tuesday night at the mayor's office in City Hall. He succeeds John Parsons.

Louis Yanni was elected vice chairman.

Also attending the meeting were Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne, river-front director, and Joseph Walters, parks and recreation supervisor.

Van Dyne discussed the use of the Ohio River by local residents, pointing out it is part of the federal water and navigation system and that owners are free to travel on the river under federal and adjoining states' reciprocal agreements.

Boats must be licensed by the state in which they are moored, he explained. He also reported on a meeting with a Coast Guard official at Sewickley to discuss the rules and regulations of boating.

There are laws governing drinking, recklessness and negligence, he pointed out, and said anyone injured can file charges in Municipal Court. The fine for any of the charges can be up to $2,000, a year in prison or both.

Missionary Realizes Dream, Now Back In U.S. For Good

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. William Baur left Webster Groves, Mo., in 1926 with his bride of one week and a dream of service as a missionary. With the dream realized after 40 years in India, the Baur's are back in America for good.

Their four children and 10 grandchildren—three of whom they had never seen—raised a sign reading "Welcome home Baur" as the liner United States docked in New York Wednesday.

The grandchildren, from 2 to 12 years old, carried banners with their names in big block letters.

The Rev. Mr. Baur, 64, went first to the Indian state of Madhya Pradesh, where he rode the missionary circuit for the Evangelical Church, now merged into the United Church of Christ. Mrs. Baur ran a school for Indian boys.

Later, for 16 years, the Baur's directed a colony for 600 lepers at Raipur in central India.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The letter you published recently, from the teen-age girl whose father made fun of her because she was fat, rang a familiar bell with me.

I'm now 21 years old, and very much overweight — in fact, about 90 pounds. Ever since I was a small child my parents tried to get me to cut down on my eating. I hated them every time they mentioned food. My friends kept telling me what a pretty face I had and how attractive I would be if I slimmed down. I resented their comments and ate more.

Five years ago I was hospitalized. The doctors took tests and told me that everything that was wrong could be corrected if I followed their instructions and stuck to the diet. They also told me I wouldn't live long if I refused.

I'm really trying now — for the first time in my life. But I'm afraid the damage has been done. I probably never will be able to have children. My health is permanently damaged and I'm very unhappy.

Please tell the young people who write about being fat that it isn't worth it. Food isn't that important. I found out the hard way. — LEARNED TOO LATE.

Dear Learned: Your letter clearly suggests that your excessive weight was tied in with an emotional problem. If you did not have psychiatric help, you should have had it. And early.

Thanks for writing, and good luck to you, honey.

Heart Crusher

Dear Ann: Our son is 18 and going with a lovely girl. She is the fourth fine young girl he has gone steady with in the last year and we are deeply concerned — about her.

Ever since Bud was 15 girls have fallen for him at the flick of an eyelash. His romances all end the same way. He uses the girl for his own pleasure, and leaves her heartbroken.

Bud is too handsome for his own good. He also is bright and does well in school. Bud always has had a mean streak and a bad temper, which seem to appeal to some very attractive and intelligent girls, for some strange reason.

My husband and I can't go around warning girls against our son. What shall we do? His present sweetheart is such a fine person we hate to see her hurt. — STYMIED.

Dear Stymied: You must get this Don Juan, Junior

Grade, straightened around soon — not only for his good, but so the world will be safe.

Unfortunately, disturbed people often attract each other. A girl who would be attracted to Bud's mean streak and bad temper must be a little out to lunch.

Ask your physician to direct you to a someone who can help the boy. He needs professional counseling.

Pollyannaish

Dear Ann: You are the Pollyanna of all time. That letter from the woman who stuck it out with her cheating husband was a beaut. And your answer — well. Forget it Honey.

I would like to hear from the wives of other two-timing skunks. Was it worth the humiliation and the hurt you suffered? How about the truth? — UNFORGIVING IN Klamath Falls.

Dear Unforgiving: I'll print the letters if the women will write them. Be my guest, girls.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

House Group 'Sidetracks' Housing Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee has adjourned without taking up the most controversial section of a civil rights bill which would ban racial discrimination in housing.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said action on the housing provision was put off until today in hopes the subcommittee members can agree on what to do with it.

Celler indicated there is no hope of keeping the provision intact and that a compromise is needed to hold it in the bill.

A representative of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, J. D. Sawyer of Middletown, Ohio, appeared before the subcommittee Wednesday and strongly urged rejection of the proposed ban on racial or religious discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing.

Sawyer, testifying as chairman of the Realtors Ohio Committee, said that "we abhor racial discrimination in matters concerning real property" but he contended the bill would "only foster confusion and gross inequities."

He said he believed it would prove ineffective. "Compulsion, contention and litigation in this area would prove no boon to the solution of the problem," Sawyer said. "Only education and understanding will make significant contributions."

Ohio Educators Join In Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 36-state Compact for Education has decided on Denver, Colo., for its permanent headquarters by July 1, 1968, but temporary headquarters will be in Cincinnati, it was reported here Wednesday.

Harold Eibling, Columbus school superintendent, was elected to a seat on the steering committee of the organization.

Cincinnati School Supt. Wendell Pierce, who has resigned that post, serves on the committee as Compact executive director.

There had been some hope that Cincinnati would be selected as the permanent headquarters, but the decision on Denver came during a Chicago conference just ended.

State Rep. Clara E. Weisenbor R-Dayton, and Eibling made presentations to the compact delegates on state and Columbus educational programs, respectively.

Other Ohio delegates included John D. Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents; Martin Essex, recently named Ohio superintendent of public instruction; Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Ironton, and Bishop C. E. Elwell, superintendent of the Cleveland diocese.

University Head Another Victim Of China Purge

TOKYO (AP) — Another university head, the rector in Nanking, is victim of the purge in Communist China.

Radio Peking announced to-day that Kuang Ya-ming, rector of Nanking University, was stripped of all his duties because of his "ignoble and villainous conspiracy to suppress the revolutionary movement" in the powerful Peking Mayor Peng Chen from the leadership of the Communist party committee in the Chinese capital.

Cancer Clinic Tests 1,000

LISBON — The Columbiana County Cancer Detection Clinic has examined 1,000 women since it was established 10 months ago.

The clinic gives the "Pap" test — a simple process which provides early detection of uterine cancer.

Located on the third floor of the Courthouse, the clinic is a division of the County Health Department and is supported by a grant from the federal Health, Education and Welfare Department through the Ohio State Department of Health. No charge is made for the service.

Mrs. Kathryn Peterson, nurse, and Mrs. Ersley Stewart, clerk, staff the clinic, which is in operation two and a half days each week. Hours are noon to 4 p.m. Mondays and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Mrs. Stewart is on duty Monday through Friday to take appointments.

Dr. M. K. Singer, county health commissioner, says women in the 30-60 age group should have a Pap test every six months and those in the 21-30 and 60-74 age groups should undergo the test annually.

Appointments may be made by calling Lisbon 424-7221, Extension 25 or 31. East Liverpool residents may call 385-2310 and Salem residents 332-1668, toll-free lines to the Courthouse.

Girl, 9, Injured In Attack By Dog

A 9-year-old girl suffered a severe laceration behind the left knee Wednesday afternoon when bitten by a dog on E. 4th St., police reported.

She is Sharon Sprout, daughter of Charles Sprout of 216 Raintree St., who was released after treatment at City Hospital about 4:30 p.m.

Patrolman Karl Samples said she was dispatched to an address in the 500 block of E. 4th St. on a report a child had been bitten badly by a dog. He said he found the girl with a severe bite behind her knee.

The girl said she walked in front of a dog house "and the dog came out and bit her," the officer reported. A witness corroborated her report, he added.

Officer Samples said the dog is owned by Inez Joy of 729 E.

Man To Be Sent To Hospital For Burglary Case

LISBON — James William Greier, 29, of Salem R. D. 3 is in Columbiana County Jail awaiting transfer to Lima State Hospital as a psychopathic offender.

Judge Joel H. Sharp denied Greier's request for probation Wednesday in Common Pleas Court and sentenced him to 1 to 5 years in Ohio State Penitentiary for a daylight burglary last Feb. 21 at the Randall Black dwelling, Salem R. D. 2.

Acting on a report from the hospital and the fact Greier has committed three burglaries since 1957, Judge Sharp suspended the sentence and ordered Greier "Indefinitely committed" to Lima State Hospital.

Greier pleaded guilty April 18 and agreed to go to Lima for an examination and report. The state hospital examiners considered him a psychopathic offender, although, in their opinion, not mentally ill nor a mentally deficient offender.

In another probation hearing yesterday, Judge Sharp granted probation for five years to Betty Courtwright, 26, of Franklin Square, who earlier pleaded guilty to a fraudulent check charge and five counts of forgery.

The court ordered her to make restitution to two Salem stores. Investigators said she passed a bad check for $13.89 at the Salem A. & P. and, using the name Nancy Carter, forged a $7 check at the A. & P. and four checks for $7, $10, $20 and $25 at Persky's Super Center.

The assistantship, which will begin Monday, will include tuition plus approximately 10 hours of work per week in the chemistry department.

While at Geneva, Mercer was active in various campus activities, including Varsity Club, Freshman Orientation Committee, Great Books Discussion Group and Radio Club. He also served as chairman of the Student Center Arts and Music Committee and his name appeared on the honors list.

A "thank you" for a donation was received from Mrs. Marjorie Martin, secretary of the Little League.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Kay Hays and Mrs. Fannie Grodhaus. The next regular meeting will be July 12.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: I have a wonderful idea for mothers whose children go away to summer camp. Several months before camp time, I start saving plastic bags that our bread comes in and also the plastic clips to close them.

When packing time comes I place one pair of shorts, necessary underwear, socks and a blouse in each plastic bag. If the child is to be gone two weeks, I fix 14 packages — one for each day — plus one or two extra for emergencies, then slip on the plastic clip or a rubber band.

These packages stack neatly in suitcases and foot lockers. So every morning our "pride-and-joy" has her clothes all together in one plastic bag and everything matches.

The plastic covering also protects the clean clothes in case of a carelessly dropped swim suit.

Each evening the soiled clothes are put back into their own plastic bag.

Our camp director was so pleased with my system that this year we are going to put the idea in our camp folder.

Hope you like it as well.

LEILA EITELJORZE.

Bringing Up A Family

Many Words Not Spelled Phonetically

Growing familiar with sounds in words helps considerably in learning to spell. But many of the words most used are not spelled as they sound. Their spelling must be learned by rote. Suppose your child left this note for you: "I cooed and spelt all my words right but speld az meny Dr. Garry Myers as I cood. I wuz in a hery. I am shure I cood spel sum uv them rite wunst wen you shod me." Did you ever write rows of words, about four to a row, which rhyme but are not spelled alike, just for fun? Here are a few samples:

Do shoe blue knew; go snow toe though;

Buy high eye shy; bird curd word heard.

WHEN YOU read a letter from a friend you may not notice the misspelling of hard words in it so readily as the misspelling of short simple words wrongly spelled phonetically. A person who often misspells such words is most likely to be considered illiterate.

As you examine the written work which your child prepares for school, take special notice of the short, simple words he misspells. Help him keep a list of these words spelled correctly. They may include such short words as these: were, was, of, any, girl, as, his, shoe, bought, busy, biscuit, onion, women, world, once.

Win his cooperation to study the correct spelling of these words. It would be well to have each word printed or typed plainly on a card and to dwell on his learning to spell only four or five of these words at a sitting. Have him pick out one card, pronounce the word on it, then name its letters in correct order while looking right at this word. Do this over and over four, five or more times with the same word before he looks away and tries to spell it from memory. Usually he wants to try himself out too soon. He may want to go quickly to a second word after spelling this first word correctly just once, while looking at it.

HE WILL see that he just has to learn the spelling of each word by heart. There is no rule to follow. He must remember from enough correct repetitions. You help your child best in learning to spell when you can keep him from ever spelling a word wrong.

What I am saying here is so simple that children, parents and teachers rarely get it. Children spend so much time practicing at spelling words wrong, over and over again. When a child, especially in the elementary grades, is doing written homework, try your best to cause him to ask you to spell any word for him whose spelling he is not sure of. Normally he is in a hurry and willing to take a chance and guess at the spelling. Our big problem is to help our children develop a good spelling conscience.

My bulletin "Home Helps for Poor Spellers" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Traffic Mishaps Claim 4 In Ohio

By The Associated Press
A pedestrian and motorcycle riders are among Ohio's latest traffic victims.

The dead:
Dale Dean Walker, 23, Rt. 2, Bryan.

Robert Ball, 17, Columbus.
John Hammond, 12, Shaderville near Columbus.

Mike Taylor, 17, Van Wert.

Walker, whose car apparently broke down on Ohio 34 just east of Bryan early Thursday was walking along the highway when struck by a car operated by Allen Hildebrand, 34, Stryker, according to Williams County sheriff's deputies. A car registered in the victim's name was found further down the road.

Ball and Hammond, stepbrothers, were killed Wednesday night when their newly purchased motorcycle and a car collided at an intersection south of Columbus.

Taylor, trying to pass a truck on the right, police reported, swerved into the vehicle and was killed Wednesday trying to avoid a parked car. His passenger, Paul Hoverman, 16, Van Wert, was injured.

Eisenhower did have some advice for Reagan, though.

"I told him to start hitting keep hitting and hit harder as the campaign goes on."

Reagan said he had come to Gettysburg to report on the progress of the Republican campaign in California. He said there had been great concern expressed about the western branch of the GOP but in reality there was "greater party unity than I have ever seen before."

Groups Ease LBJ Worry On Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pledges of support from state and national medical and hospital groups eased today the Johnson administration's concern over the start of the medicare program July 1.

John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, announced that he had received "many expressions of eagerness and willingness to cooperate" from the more than 200 leaders of the health professions who attended Wednesday's White House "conference on medicare implementation."

The conferees discussed half a dozen major problems to be faced, Gardner said, including shortages of nurses and other medical manpower, racial discrimination in some Southern hospitals, concern over the method of reimbursing hospitals for their increased load of elderly patients, and some signs of public misunderstanding of what the insurance program does and does not provide.

The all-day meeting of delegates from every state also produced new and promising proposals for dealing with these potential difficulties, Gardner reported. He said the government has pledged to follow up the suggestions and "do everything we can to sustain and nourish our great voluntary hospital system."

Orioles Relief Corps Does It Again To Down Senators, 6-4

Whitfield's Blast Beats Yanks, 8-5

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer probably can't wait to yank his next starting pitcher.

The Orioles' elite bullpen corps has stretched its week-long perfect game to 12 2-3 innings and the way things are going, Bauer can point to just about any of his relief pitchers and get a hitless job.

Moe Drabowsky tacked on the latest 3 1-3 inning stint Wednesday night when he saved Wally Bunker's sixth victory as the American League-leading Orioles downed Washington 6-4.

Before Drabowsky, rookies Eddie Watt and Gene Brabender and veteran Stu Miller had pieced together 9 1-3 perfect innings over five games. Bauer has to stop and think to remember the last time he didn't get an airtight relief job.

"I've got a heckuva bullpen," Bauer smiles. "I can pull anyone of them and get a good job done. With the exception of Watt and Brabender, all the rest are seasoned ball players. I can bring them in under pressure and they don't get shook."

Still awaiting his chance to add to the perfect string is the newest member of the bullpen corps who joined the Orioles Sunday. Lew Krausse made his first start of the season and limited Chicago to five hits over seven innings as the Athletics handed the White Sox their eighth loss in the last nine games. Bert Campaneris' two-run single in the sixth delivered the deciding runs.

Rookie Clyde Wright pitched a four-hitter in his major league debut and drove in a run with a single as California ripped Minnesota in the first game of their doubleheader.

The Angels completed the sweep with Joe Adcock's pinch hit three-run homer in the eighth inning earning the victory for veteran Lou Burdette.

Nicklaus Tabbed One To Beat As U.S. Open Starts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Long hitting Jack Nicklaus, already the 1966 Masters champion, is the favorite in the $150,000 National Open Golf Tournament which started today, and it was fine with him.

While some others complained about conditions at the precise Olympic Club course, the 26-year-old from Columbus, Ohio, termed it "awfully good and one of the best golf courses in the country."

Both defending champion Gary Player and former winner Arnold Palmer tabbed Nicklaus the man to beat and the Las Vegas odds listed him a 9-2 favorite in this field of 183 pros and 18 amateurs.

After a record heat wave, the normal San Francisco fog crept back to town Wednesday and could bring changed course conditions every day of this 72-hole event as the moisture seeps back into the earth.

"Now this will play like a San Francisco course," Nicklaus said. "If you want conditions like a Scottish course, you should go play in Scotland."

With the hot weather early in the week, the five-inch rough didn't seem so tough to many, but Nicklaus warned, "It will come back when it gets wet. Just see what happens to it."

Many, including host pro Kyle Burton, say a long ball hitter will be at a disadvantage and must play defensive golf over this tight layout of 6,727 yards with par 35-35-70.

"Hogwash," answered Nicklaus. "If you hit long and straight you have an advantage. If you don't hit straight, you have problems."

Bad news to the others was his statement, "I'm driving better than any time since Oakmont."

That was the course near Pittsburgh where big Jack beat Palmer for the Open title in 1962. Nicklaus admitted he hasn't been putting too well.

Sentimental favorite Ben Hogan, seeking his fifth National Open title at 53, returns to the scene where he lost his bid for No. 5 in a playoff to virtually unknown Jack Fleck in 1956.

Hogan says he isn't playing too well. Fleck says virtually nothing.

Gibson 3-Hits Pirates For 100th Victory Leads Strikeout Parade

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was in the cards for Bob Gibson to post his 100th victory. But can the St. Louis ace become the National League's new strikeout king?

A 30-year-old right-hander apparently reaching his peak, Gibson stepped up to the 100-victory plateau Wednesday night when he pitched a three-hitter in the Cardinals' 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

It was only natural that Gibson, one of the league's top pitchers, eventually post victory No. 100, and it may be just as natural for the fireballer to take a shot at dethroning Sandy Koufax as the NL's No. 1 strike-out artist.

A right-hander has been unable to lead the National League in strikeouts since 1962, but Gibson has inched his victory total by his number of innings pitched and his strikeouts upward each of the last three years.

Last season he hit the 20-victory mark, worked 299 innings and struck out 270. And right now he's running ahead of both his own strikeout pace — and Koufax.

By striking out eight Pirates,

Gibson ran his total for the season to 128 in 126 innings, or just over one an inning. That's by far his best ratio ever. Koufax, meanwhile, is running second with 117 strikeouts in 117 1-3 innings, his usual one-an-inning clip.

While Gibson remained ahead of Koufax, Willie Mays closed in on Ted Williams, moving to within one homer of third place on the all-time home run list by hitting No. 520 of his career in San Francisco's 4-0 victory over Houston.

The Review Sports

THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1966

Mays' was his 15th of the season. Joe Gibbon pitched into the ninth but needed Frank Linzy's one-out relief help to finish a four-hit shutout.

The Dodgers trailed the Cubs 4-1 before they put it away with a five-run fifth inning uprising. A walk to Jim Gilliam and singles by Willie Davis, Tommy Davis and Lou Johnson produced two runs before Wes Parker capped the rally with a three-run homer. Claude Osteen got the victory, his eighth against five defeats.

The Braves took a 4-3 lead in the eighth on Felipe Alou's second homer of the game but the Mets won it in the ninth when singles by Ed Bressoud and Billy Murphy, a throwing error by Ted Abernathy on Ron Hunt's bunt and a sacrifice fly by Ken Boyer produced two runs.

The Phillies built 6-2 leads in each game of the twinbill against the Reds and each time reliever Ed Roebuck, called up recently from San Diego, was tagged for the winning runs.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Commercials Are Good For You

Thanks to television commercials the housewives of America now have discovered that all they need to keep their families in a state of domestic tranquility is a white wash, good coffee and a safe deodorant. By providing these three necessities of life the housewife is won over.

Hal Humphrey shamed by her kids ("Oh, Mommy, look how white my dress is!"), loved by her husband ("Honey, that's great coffee!") and respected by her neighbors ("Marge, how in the world do you keep looking so cool?").

If she should ever feel conscious-bound to attend a PTA meeting, there on the TV screen is Joan Fontaine to prescribe a couple of pain tablets. Or if the housewife has made the mistake of telling her husband before he gets his hat off, "Don't forget PTA meeting tonight, John," she now knows enough to rush for another brand of pain killers to calm him down.

The moral seems to be that if the housewife stays home with the wash machine, the coffee-pot and a jar of deodorant, she won't need pills. Any activity beyond the confines of the home (PTA meetings, etc.) spells trouble—at least for the housewife.

YOUNG UNMARRIEDS are allowed to gambol through the fields puffing menthol cigarettes. Once such romance blossoms into marriage, however, this young couple becomes concerned with the realities—laundry, coffee and a good family deodorant. Dandruff and bad breath can be problems, too, but not to the same degree, if we are to believe the TV commercials (and who's to doubt them?).

The reader should not get the idea here that I'm knocking these commercials and the American standard of life they represent. If I once felt bent in this direction, I was recently converted by A. William Bluem, professor of radio and television at Syracuse University, who recently upbraided those of us who thought we saw a corruption of social values portrayed by TV commercials.

We are overlooking, said Prof. Bluem, the real significance of TV in unifying American tastes and aspirations, even through those two most-hated institutions—the commercial and the situation comedy.

"A mass medium does stabilize men in their social behavior and values," he declared in his address before the Eastern States Speech Association in New York.

"But instead of applauding that very power to establish a value system which is universal and humane, we worry only about the possible corruption introduced by this power into matters related to refinement and

Panel To Air Dismissal Of School Head

KENT, Ohio (AP) — While a panel of the Ohio Education Association is here to air problems in the Tallmadge School System, the board of education is expected to name a new school superintendent.

The controversy which brought the panel here concerns the firing of former Supt. Thom as O. Morgan.

The board is expected to hire Dr. David L. Moberly, 37, who resigned this week as superintendent of Newbury Schools in Geauga County.

Mrs. Laurette Redner, board president, said Dr. Moberly is "a good public relations man, besides being quite strong in curriculum, and should be able to quiet troubled waters."

Mrs. Redner said she and two other board members, Ray Vittitoe and Karl Starks, will see the panel Friday.

"Since we're the ones they (the Tallmadge Teachers Association) want to put out, we'll face the panel together," she said.

Officials of the teachers association saw the panel Wednesday.

Also among Wednesday's witnesses was Norman Griggs, Tallmadge junior high school principal who recently resigned after 10 years in the system.

Griggs accused the board of harassment of teachers and said the question of "who's going to be next" on the firing list had become a community joke.

Bernard J. Griffith, OEA professional relations director, said the panel would meet next month to approve a final report for publication.

Panel chairman is Dr. Victor Wood, superintendent of Salem Public Schools.

Exiles Claiming Cuba Executing Political Figures

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Exiles claim the Fidel Castro regime is executing political prisoners en masse, bleeding them first, and sending their blood to Communist Viet Nam.

There were 166 executions last May 27 at La Cabana fortress prison in Havana, Dr. Miguel Angel Olba Benito, secretary-general of the Commission for Humane Treatment for Political Prisoners in Cuba, told an exile meeting Wednesday night.

Before shooting the prisoners, an average of seven pints of blood was extracted from each, said Dr. Olba Benito, formerly a prominent Cuban lawyer.

He addressed the Cuban Lions Club in Exile at a special meeting in memory of three members of the club executed two years ago in Cuba.

QUESTION: Why does spring start on March 21 and fall on Sept. 23?

ANSWER: Study the top picture to understand why we have seasons. As the earth goes around the sun once every year, it spins on its axis once every 24 hours. It keeps the same tilt while all this is happening. This means that rays straight from the sun shine down above the equator in our summer season, making it warmer (earth at left). In our winter, the sun's rays shine directly down south of the equator (earth at right). Twice every year, the sun's direct rays must cross the equator as they move from north to south and back again. These crossing times are called equinoxes (because at those times day and night are equal) and they mark the beginning of the spring and fall seasons. The next equinox, this year, will be the fall one, on September 23. Then, on March 21, 1967, the sun's direct rays will cross the equator again. This will mean that spring has started. The sun soon will pour down north of the equator and it will be the summer season of 1967. As the sun moves north or south during the equinoxes, its direct rays are traveling faster over the earth's surface than at other times. This results in an uneven heating of the earth's surface and leads to storms at this season of the year, called equinoctial gales.

600 Had Been Asked

Lench Bill Proposes 250 Additional State Troopers

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Democrats plan to give the State Police additional manpower, but less than half of what the police had requested.

Rep. Ronald G. Lench, chairman of a special committee investigating the 2,100-man organization, introduced a bill Wednesday proposing the addition of 250 troopers. The State Police had asked for 600.

Lench's bill highlighted action Wednesday in the General Assembly. Both the House and Senate were in recess today, until June 27.

The bill was sponsored by three other Democrats and three Republicans, all members of the committee whose investigation of wiretapping charges resulted in the resignation of the State Police commissioner and the court-martial of two detectives.

A fourth Republican member, Rep. William G. Buchanan, R-Indiana, had offered a bill on Tuesday authorizing a 600-man increase in the force. It was similar to one that has cleared the Senate.

Lench, a Beaver County Democrat, said the committee would recommend in an interim report that a team of independent consultants be employed by the state to determine if more troopers are needed.

"We agreed to 250 because we felt this was the most the State Police could effectively train in a year without cutting the training time from 16 to 12 weeks," he said. "We're not even sure they can train that many."

The House and Senate also continued the partisan struggle over the 1966-67 fiscal budget as recommended by Gov. Scranton.

Minority Republicans in the House made a feeble attempt to amend an appropriation bill to make it read like the $1.29 billion general appropriation bill approved by the Senate. The amendment was defeated.

Earlier, the House had passed another 15 bills totaling $4.8 million in their 200 - bill plus package and shipped them to the Senate.

At the same time, the Senate returned to the House a bill it had amended to conform with its general appropriation bill, but the move was ignored for the time being by the House.

The Senate believes the budget should be incorporated in one bill, as in past years, while the House wants several bills.

The Senate, in anticipation of a prolonged dispute, sent Scranton two bills to provide the state with temporary operating funds for 60 days into the new fiscal year, which begins July 1. The bills totaled $124 million.

Other developments:

School Bonus — The Senate gave final legislative approval to a bill proposing a $34 million subsidy bonus to local school districts in the next school year. The vote was 48-0.

Consumer Credit — House Democrats postponed until the week of June 27 a final vote on the party's consumer protection bill designed to protect the public against excessive or

Crowd Seen For Potters' Canton Picnic

Thousands from ceramic cities in the Eastern United States are expected to crowd Meyers Lake Park at Canton Saturday for the 38th annual Potters' Picnic.

Denman — The Senate confirmed the appointment to Mrs. Mary T. Denman of Mount Lebanon as the consumer representative on the State Milk Control Commission. She is to head the new consumer bureau to be established under a 1965 law within the commission.

The vote was 48-0.

Narcotics — The House adopted a resolution to expand the scope of an investigation of the use of marijuana by college students into a general probe into the use of narcotics in the state.

Senate passage now is required. The Senate Appropriations Committee freed to the floor a $20,000 bill to finance the committee's work. This was $10,000 less than approved by the House.

Entry Forms Set For Wool Contest

LISBON — The Columbian County Cooperative Extension Office at 113 S. Market St. has entry forms available for the 1966-67 make-it-yourself - with wool contest.

Ann Overturf, county extension agent for home economics, said the home sewing contest for girls, 10 to 21, will be held in November at Warren.

Entries of adult contestants will be judged in August at the Ohio State Fair.

The American Wool Council sponsors the competition in four divisions: Sub deb, 10-13; junior, 14-16; senior, 17-21, and adult.

Each contestant must make a coat, two-piece suit or dress of 100 per cent wool. She must do all the work herself and model the garment before judges. The fabric must have been loomed in America.

The national grand prize is a holiday in Europe. Other prizes include scholarships, U. S. Savings Bonds, sewing machines and, for the national finalists, a trip to Las Vegas for the judging.

Miss Overturf said the sponsor will furnish contestants with educational material once entry forms are received.

National Speculation

Rhodes, Romney Loom Large At Governor Talks

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Republicans likely to figure prominently in national politics the next presidential year will tune up for the National Governors Conference at a midwestern convention opening here Sunday.

They are Michigan Gov. George Romney and Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, both mentioned in national speculation with increasing frequency along with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Rides throughout the park, with a few exceptions, will be free from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. The formal program will begin at 1 with the traditional baby show, termed the "largest in Ohio" because it usually attracts a field of 250 or more. Held in the park's indoor dancing pavilion, it will be judged by nurses at the Molly Stark Sanitarium in Canton.

The age brackets are: Up to 1; 1-2, and 2-3. The first place winner in each division will receive a $50 Savings Bond. Second place carries an award of a $25 Savings Bond, while the third place winner will receive $10 in Savings Stamps.

Each entrant will receive a union-made baby set consisting of a plate and a mug.

The "junior bathing beauty" contest for boys and girls 4-7 inclusive, will be held at 3 p.m. in Moonlight Gardens, the outdoor dancing pavilion. The Molly Stark Sanitarium nurses will be the judges. The prize list will be the same as for the baby contest, but there will be only one series of winners, not three.

The IBOP emphasized that all "junior bathing beauty" contest entrants must be registered in advance. The registration booth at the park will be open from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Every youngster who participates will receive a gift.

Other awards at the outing will include $10 to the oldest member who registers.

A special bus will leave the Bus Terminal for Meyers Lake at 9:30 a.m., returning at 6 p.m. The round trip fare is $2.65 for adults and $1.35 for children.

The committee has made arrangements with the Lake Shore Restaurant to serve dinner from 4 to 6 p.m. to picnickers in informal garb.

Joe Gordon, spring batting instructor for the California Angels, has signed a contract to scout for the team.
